

Go With the Flow—Adding Transitions

Webinar, November 2009
ECS 3167
Critical Writing / Critical Thinking

My best friend has MS. Most days she seems pretty normal. I went to see her last weekend. She couldn't get out of bed.

Sexual harassment is not just an issue for women. Men can be sexually harassed too.

The word status refers to relative position within a group. It is often used to indicate only positions of prestige.

(add conjunction)

The word status refers to relative position within a group. It is often used to indicate only positions of prestige.

(add relative pronoun)

The word status refers to relative position within a group. It is often used to indicate only positions of prestige.

(add adverb)

Economic changes have reduced Russian population growth to less than zero, which will have serious social implications.

Due to these complications, a special provision allows EPA to address the effects of the action through successive effects determinations, which address groups or categories of species or habitats as established by the EPA.

This provision is needed. Some species and habitats may be affected by the pesticide.

The Service has long been aware of contamination in the water supply from both toxic chemicals and natural sources.

Sometimes FIFRA action might be unusually complex. Factors such as the geographic area or number of species affected by the action might complicate the action. A special provision (§ 402.47) allows EPA to address the effects of the action through successive effects determinations. Determinations should address groups or categories of species or habitats as established by EPA. EPA must confer with the Service. This provision is needed. Some species and habitats may be affected by the pesticide. For some widely-used pesticides, delaying the initiation of consultation until adequate information is available for every species or habitat may result in denying some of the most vulnerable species the benefits of the section 7 consultation process for as much as several years.

(email to lbaker@shepherd.edu)